

A Unique Space for Your Next Event

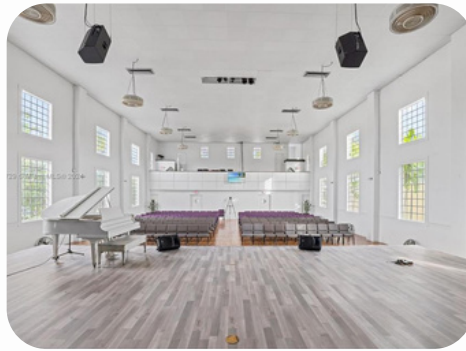

The Healing Sanctuary in Historic Downtown Homestead is now available for community events, meetings and private celebrations.

The Healing Sanctuary

Situated in the heart of Homestead on Krome Avenue, The Healing Sanctuary provides a stately backdrop for your gathering, whether for business affairs, learning forums or celebration events. Outdoor space is also available to complement your event.

When your guests arrive to the Sanctuary, the steps lead up to a grand covered portico that conveys they are in a special space. Upon entering, the vestibule (or antechamber) is ideally situated for greeting and guest check-in. The large nave provides space for up to 295 people, depending on your set up needs.

A 600-square-foot stage can accommodate elaborate productions, concerts, performances and educational presentations. Behind the stage, the vestry area works as a staging area, catering prep space or “green room” setting.

Outdoors behind the Sanctuary, the large, gated area and turfed lawn offers a tranquil setting for a reception or networking gathering for up to 500 people. Or, next to the Sanctuary, a brick paved side yard can serve as a welcoming reception space.

The property is fully fenced with gates on all four sides. Its adjoining parking lots accommodate your guests for convenient access.

Background...

The Healing Sanctuary LLC is operated by Kristi House and MUJER, two 30-year-old community organizations dedicated to helping children and families overcome violence and abuse. The organizations came together to answer a long-standing need in Homestead for services by purchasing the property to establish a permanent, shared service center site. The church building is one of three buildings on the site, with the two other buildings devoted to office space for services.

The Sanctuary's roots date back to the early days of South Florida, before incorporation of Homestead and Miami-Dade County, when a church was first built at this location in 1912. While the building itself and its uses have changed from the original wooden structure, its spiritual roots run deep, with potential for healing power persevering over time. It has served as the Atala Montessori School for Creative Expression and prior to that as the home of ArtSouth, with art installations further imbuing a sense of beauty, peace and hope throughout the complex.

The Healing Sanctuary site is in the hub of downtown activity, just a block from Homestead's City Hall. It is in an area that has seen several successful projects preserving Downtown Homestead's unique historical and cultural charms while incorporating modern amenities and invigorating the area with activity.

The Healing Sanctuary is a special space in a great area for your next event!
